Bodhi International Journal of Research in Humanities, Arts and Science

(26th December'2020 – 27th December'20)

A two day online International Congress on English Language, Literature and Culture was most meticulously organised by Department of English, Patrasayer Mahavidyalaya, N.M.S.Sermathai Vasan College For Women, Madurai, Tamil Nadu and Bodhi International Journal of Research in Humanities, Arts and Science. For two consecutive days, the academic program continued with sincere support from all the organising parties involved. Participants from all over the world took part in paper presentation sessions which had to be arranged over parallel sessions due to the great number of submissions. Both the Principals of the respective colleges displayed extraordinary leadership qualities in the program and made sure that everything is done as per the plan. All the sessions of the congress were being carefully conducted by revered academicians who chaired all the parallel sessions with patience. After the congress was over, it was decided that the proceedings will be edited by the faculty members of both the colleges and as a matter of fact, it has actually being published as a book from the L ORDINE NUOVO PUBLICATION (ISBN- 978-81-944724-3-8).
